Last week's Rotary: Heather Barton

HEATHER BARTON: Last week's meeting featured Heather Barton who is an advocate for PAC E which was explained as a co operative between Rotary and community groups to have partnerships. Rotary has a great challenge with membership and by fostering working relationships with community organizations then this can inspire growth in membership.

Other activities of PACE include workings within the homeless World Cup which will be featured in Melbourne during December.

Heather also challenged the norms of how Rotary does its activities and its drive for membership renewal. It was an interesting and thought provoking discussion.

OTHER NEWS: The Club also called for members to assist with a coin collecting day at the Caulfield Racecourse with proceeds to the Caulfield General Medical Centre. Our Club is forging relationships with our community institutions.

Also our YOUTH DINNER night is scheduled for first week of October with nominations expected from the various local schools.

Caulfield Racecourse Collection

A big thanks to members who participated in the coin collection in the racecourse. All proceeds to Caulfield Hospital.

Our intention this time in, is to raise these funds for our local hospitals. In such coin collections the thing that assists the collection total is essentially two things: THE ROTARY EMBLEM and the goodwill generated from that and also THE ACTUAL CAUSE which must have general appeal to the public at large.

We are aiming at about two such coin collection days per year.

Meeting: Tuesday 25 September

Happy New Year to all members who celebrate such festivities that will be upon us very soon.

As the general consensus is sought from the membership.

This night will more than likely see members participate in family matters of celebration and as such it is suggested our designated meeting be held downstairs as a quieter meeting.

MEMBERS input will be valued on this suggestion.

It is felt with our expected lower attendance it is pertinent to scale down this meeting. Please let the Secretary, President or Editor know.
