LAST WEEK AMBULANCE VICTORIA

Mick Jackson, now with the Community Education Centre department within Ambulance Victoria was certainly a breezy character. With his background in scuba diving, mentoring police in First Aid training at the Police Academy he has worked on the ground with Ambulance Victoria in its fantastic work. In his introduction he spoke of the huge workload throughout Victoria, acknowledged the challenges of meeting call-out deadlines and new cooperation with the Fire Brigade. Moving onto heart attacks, he reminded us of the urgency of calling on skilled assistance and treatment at the earliest opportunity, using CPR meanwhile. His handouts were great and should be kept prominently at home. We can look forward to sharing around a CPR training kit which is on its way to us.

THIS WEEK

Our Speaker this week Margaret Adams As we celebrate Rotary's World Literacy Month, who better to invite but Glen Eira City Library. Our speaker is Margaret Adams, Marketing and Information Services Librarian at Glen Eira City Council. Margaret's theme is "Readers's Reward" – promoting literacy and reading at Glen Eira's libraries. She has worked in public, tertiary and specialist libraries across Melbourne, has presented papers at national and state library conferences, and has appeared in newspapers, on radio and television promoting libraries to the community.

Etiquette with Speakers

Club Members should be aware that when speakers are presenting that it is appropriate to give the speaker full attention and to listen attentively. The enthusiasm and camaraderie may at times spill over but it would be a shame if this was ever misconstrued as disturbance. Our Club has a great tradition of this correct etiquette.

Rotarians are encouraged to use THE GEN as a means of sharing information about Rotary coming events and news. Your item can be emailed to heubergd@anz.com Preferred deadline Friday 5pm..

MIRANDA McMAHON FRANCE Exchange Student

This year's outbound youth exchange Miranda McMahon arrived in France in January. Here are excerpts from her first report:

I've been in France for about a month and already I have learnt so much. I'm finding it difficult to understand some conversations but other times I can understand what people are talking about.

I haven't done much in my time in France. (!!! ed.)

My first weekend in France was a Rotary camp where I met all the other exchange students. It's great because now I know people for all over the world. I spent my few weeks just sitting in class trying to understand what the teachers say, but most of the time I'm drawing in my note book. My friends find my drawing interesting.

At home with my first host family my host sister, host brother and I cook crêpes. They taste pretty good with a splash of rum in them and with Nutella. The French are crazy about the stuff. I got my parents to send up some Vegemite and I shared it with my host family, my host sister loved it my host brother wasn't sure, and my host parents don't really like it. I also went skiing for the day with my host family - it was great. I wasn't as good as my host sister but she has been skiing since she was little and I've only been skiing for 3 maybe 4 years.

My councilor is pretty cool she took me to Paris for 5 days. It was out of this world it's really pretty. I visited the Eiffel Tower and all the other places that you are meant to see. I've been shopping; spent a lot of money but so worth it. Other than that I haven't really done much beside hang out with my friends and with the other exchange students.

I really love France this country is amazing. It has stopped snowing but it's still raining, also the weather is heating up the other day it was 12° yep I know heat wave, it's great. I miss home and I've been dying for a vegemite sandwich with cheese. But I left my vegemite at my first host family's house and they don't get back for another 4 days.

The picture are of me I hope you enjoy them - Miranda

This is NOT the Editor. On close inspection actress Tsai Chin who was in two James Bond Movies, may have had a third role in a Rotary Club in Glen Eira? Tsai Chin played the girl who set up the decoy death of James Bond in You Only Live Twice and was a card player at the big game in Casino Royale.
