LAST WEEK

Our Speaker last week was Margaret Adams who helped us better understand why our organization has a month titled Rotary's World Literacy Month. Margaret is the Marketing and Information Services Librarian at Glen Eira City Council. Margaret's theme is promoting reading and the various community libraries in our region. Margaret handed out some of Glen Eira's promotion materials for reading. She captured the essence of reading and how her service area serves our community. One factor to better prepare people for the future is being well versed in reading. An enjoyable night.

Our Speaker this week: Denis Roberts

The nuclear energy debate is not going to go away. As Australia contemplates future energy resources, greenhouse gas emissions and a growing population, the possibility of nuclear power generation can no longer be ignored

Denis Roberts is an experienced British engineer, graduating as an aeronautical engineer, but progressing to a Diploma in Nuclear Engineering and using that to serve as Commissioning Engineer of the Hunterston Nuclear Power Station in Scotland, before concluding his career as an Engineering Associate at Esso with responsibilities for formulation, testing and promotion of engine oils.

REMEMBER WE HAVE CREDIT CARD FACILITIES FOR OUR BREAKFAST

Camberwell Rotary Art Show moves to Caulfield Racecourse

This year, the renowned Camberwell Rotary Art Show moves venue to our local Caulfield Racecourse. The Rotary Club of Glen Eira is delighted to assist the Rotary Club of Camberwell with this great community event. A prize pool of over $50,000 is again on offer including the Herald Sun $20,000 'Best of Show' Award.

ART SHOW OPEN TO PUBLIC

Friday 28 May - Saturday 29 May - Sunday 30 May.
10am-10pm (please note: closes 5pm Sunday)

History of the Camberwell Rotary Art Show

The first Art Show and Competition was held in 1966 at the Camberwell Grammar School having been preceded by two Antique and Art Shows. The aim of the Art Show has always been to: Raise money for the charitable use of the Rotary Club. Provide a venue for artists to display their works. Provide a community artistic event The 1966 Show featured 1042 artworks. One of the principal objectives was the acquisition of artworks as a basis for a collection for the City of Camberwell (now City of Boroondara) and its citizens. By 1990, over 50 artworks had been donated to the City of Camberwell and Rotary International awarded its first district 'Significant Achievement Award' to the Rotary Club of Camberwell. In 1969, the Show moved its location and featured in the official launch of the new Camberwell Town Hall. Free entry to the Art Show was sponsored by the City of Camberwell. The exhibition featured 1357 works. By 1972, the Show boasted over 2,000 entries. The Study Grant Prize was instituted in 1972. David Taylor, whose works are now well renowned, was the first winner. The Art Show's entries peaked at over 4,000 in 1983. In 1993, Melbourne businessman, arts benefactor and philanthropist Harold Mitchell became Patron of the Camberwell Rotary Art Show. Art Show judges have included Sir William Dargie, Paul Fitzgerald, Harold Freeman, Karlis Mednis, Herman Pekel, Robert Wade, David Taylor, Ern Trembath, Kath Ballard, Colin Johnson, Carole Milton, Gillian Peebles and two international judges, Ian Houston and Richard Stone. A number of prize winning artists and judges have contributed raffle and door prizes to assist in fundraising. In recent years, the Art Show has been attracting some 10,000 visitors annually. In 1999 Australia's highest selling newspaper, the Herald Sun, became the Camberwell Rotary Art Show's major sponsor. This followed the demise of the Herald Sun Outdoor Art Show which was a feature of Melbourne's Moomba celebrations. The City of Boroondara (formerly City of Camberwell) has supported the Art Show since its inception. The success of the Art Show can be attributed to many corporate sponsors, Club members plus a legion of friends who volunteer their time to ensure it remains a premier event on Melbourne's art calendar. In excess of $2.1 million has been raised for local, national and international humanitarian and charitable projects. Due to impending renovations at the Art Show's traditional venue, the Camberwell Centre, the 2010 Camberwell Rotary Art Show is moving to the one of Melbourne's best known exhibition venues, the Caulfield Racecourse.

This is NOT the Editor. It is with great insight another unraveling of identity has occurred. Our erstwhile glorious leader and President was (and now we know) also a PM of a country in the Middle East. He "used" the alias David Ben Gurion.
